ABOUT OUR PARISH

Welcome, New Parishioners and Sunday Visitors:

Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Parish is a canonically open parish of the Archdiocese of Boston, which has a Traditional Latin Mass apostolate. Both the ordinary form of the Roman Rite (1970 Missal) and the extraordinary form (1962 Missal) are celebrated here with the blessing of His Eminence Sean Cardinal O'Malley, Archbishop of Boston. We encourage new parishioners to please register in the parish and to introduce yourselves to the Pastor. We are always glad to welcome Sunday visitors here to our beautiful, historic church. We look forward to your coming again.

PLEASE TAKE THE TIME TO FILL OUT A PARISH
REGISTRATION FORM.

Parish Mission Statement

“What then is a parish? It is the smallest section of the one universal flock which has been entrusted to Peter by the Lord.

Under the authority of a responsible priest who has received the care of souls from his bishop, the parish is, within the Church of Jesus Christ, the first community of Christian life; it is a community cut to human dimensions, in which the shepherd can know his flock and the flock can know their shepherd ... At the heart of this area, we find the parish church with its bell-tower, its baptistery, its confessional, its altar and tabernacle, a symbol of unity and the centre of community life.”

(Blessed Pope Paul VI, reigned 1964-1978)

SCRIPTURE STUDY

SUNDAY EPISTLES STUDY SEVENTH SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST Romans 6:19-23

Today's Epistle is drawn from the same chapter as last week's Epistle. St. Paul uses the analogy of slavery to illustrate the drastically different rewards one earns from different masters (sin and God, respectively). Prior to baptism, one is a slave to sin, in the sense that he is subjugated to its destructive power, and consequently, merits death (vv. 16, 21). After baptism, however, the Christian is a "slave of God," in the sense that he belongs now to a benevolent Lord, and owes him his complete loyalty and obedience. Consequently, the reward for service to God is "sanctification" and "eternal life" (vv. 16-17, 22, RSV).

In light of this, we do well to think about aspects of our lives that are not always wholly given over to the service of God. Where are we still backsliding into the service of sin? The entire spiritual tradition of the Church would appear to agree that regular sacramental confession and frequent and worthy reception of Holy Communion are the greatest helps to us in battling against and overcoming these areas of servitude to sin. Additionally, the Church urges us to develop a keen sense of the triggers or the "near occasions of sin" which precipitously lead us into servitude to sin. Awareness of these triggers and diligent avoidance of them can help to prevent us from falling.

The Collect for today's Mass proves helpful in this regard. With the directness and clarity so characteristic of a Roman Collect, it petitions God for protection and for all necessary graces: "O God, whose providence faileth not in its designs, we humbly entreat Thee: put from us all that might be harmful and give us all that will be profitable. Through Our Lord Jesus Christ, etc." While this prayer is quite simple, there is much richness here, if we but take the time to examine it and meditate on its contents.

Prior to making our request, we acclaim God's ultimate and benevolent control over all things. This act of faith inspires our confidence in literally bowing down and begging (supplices exoramus) His protection from "all that might be harmful," including temptation, for instance. Trust in God's benevolent providence also inspires us to ask him to give us "all that will be profitable." Since this prayer teaches us to trust in God as the giver of all good gifts (cf. Jam. 1:17), we cast ourselves upon His infinite gratuity to aid us in our needs. We trust Him to provide the grace we need to withstand temptation and to overcome concupiscence, i.e., our disordered desires (cf. James 1:14-15). We trust also that He will help us when we encounter unavoidable temptations and trials, all of which are permitted by God in His good providence in order to strengthen our faith, hope, and charity. We cannot forget that the Father permitted Jesus to be tempted in the wilderness (cf. Mt. 4:1-11).

In v. 23, St. Paul reaffirms that death is the reward of slavery to sin, while he exalts the gratuity of God: "For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord" (RSV). St. Paul so accentuates God's gratuity that it proves to be an analogy for Christian faith that is superior even to the analogy of servitude to righteousness. According to the Catechism of the Catholic Church, the "vocation to eternal life is supernatural. It depends entirely on God's gratuitous initiative, for He alone can reveal and give Himself" (cf. CCC no. 1998).

LATIN MASS PROPERS: SEVENTH SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST

INTROIT: Psalm 46:2 Clap your hands, all ye nations: shout unto God with the voice of joy. Ps. 46:3 For the Lord is the most high, He is terrible; He is a great King over all the earth. V. Glory be to the Father.

COLLECT O God, whose providence in the ordering of all things never fails; we humbly beseech Thee to put away from us all harmful things, and to give us those things which are profitable for us. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

EPISTLE: Romans 6:19-23. Brethren; I speak a human thing, because of the infirmity of your flesh; for as you have yielded your members to serve uncleanness and iniquity unto iniquity, so now yield your members to serve justice unto sanctification. For when you were the servants of sin, you were free from justice. What fruit therefore had you then in those things, of which you are now ashamed? For the end of them is death. But now, being made free from sin, and become servants to God, you have your fruit unto sanctification, and the end life everlasting. For the wages of sin is death. But the grace of God is life everlasting; in Christ Jesus our Lord.

GRADUAL: Psalm 33:12,6. Come, children, hearken to me: I will teach you the fear of the Lord. V. Come ye to Him and be enlightened; and your faces shall not be confounded. Alleluia, alleluia. V. O clap your hands, all ye nations; shout unto God with the voice of joy. Alleluia.

GOSPEL: Matthew 7:15-21. At that time, Jesus said to His disciples: Beware of false prophets, who come to you in the clothing of sheep, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. By their fruits you shall know them. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles? Even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and the evil tree bringeth forth evil fruit. A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can an evil tree bring forth good fruit. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit shall be cut down, and shall be cast into the fire. Wherefore by their fruits you shall know them. Not everyone that saith to Me: Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of My Father who is in heaven, he shall enter into the kingdom of heaven.

OFFERTORY: Daniel 3:40 As in holocausts of rams and bullocks, and as in thousands of fat lambs; so let our sacrifice be made in Thy sight this day, that it may please Thee: for there is no confusion to them that trust in Thee, O Lord.

SECRET: O God who in this one sacrifice, hast perfected the offering of the many victims prescribed under the Old Law: receive this same sacrifice offered by Thy devoted servants and sanctify it with a blessing, like unto that which Thou didst bestow upon the offerings of Abel, that what each one of us has brought here to the glory of Thy name, may profit all unto salvation. Through our Lord.

Preface of the Holy Trinity

COMMUNION: Psalm 30:3. Bow down Thy ear, make haste to deliver me.

POSTCOMMUNION: May Thy healing work in our souls mercifully free us from our perverse inclinations, O Lord, and lead us ever to do that which is right in Thy sight. Through our Lord.
