ABOUT OUR PARISH

Welcome, New Parishioners and Sunday Visitors:

Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Parish is a canonically open parish of the Archdiocese of Boston, which has a Traditional Latin Mass apostolate. Both the ordinary form of the Roman Rite (1970 Missal) and the extraordinary form (1962 Missal) are celebrated here with the blessing of His Eminence Sean Cardinal O'Malley, Archbishop of Boston. We encourage new parishioners to please register in the parish and to introduce yourselves to the Pastor. We are always glad to welcome Sunday visitors here to our beautiful, historic church. We look forward to your coming again.

PLEASE TAKE THE TIME TO FILL OUT A PARISH REGISTRATION FORM.

Parish Mission Statement

“What then is a parish? It is the smallest section of the one universal flock which has been entrusted to Peter by the Lord.

Under the authority of a responsible priest who has received the care of souls from his bishop, the parish is, within the Church of Jesus Christ, the first community of Christian life; it is a community cut to human dimensions, in which the shepherd can know his flock and the flock can know their shepherd ... At the heart of this area, we find the parish church with its bell-tower, its baptistery, its confessional, its altar and tabernacle, a symbol of unity and the centre of community life.”

OUR FIRST PARISH PICNIC—120 YEARS AGO

Once again our parishioner Martha Phillips has discovered a new and wonderful part of our parish history: an account in the Boston Globe of St. Mary's Lawn Party on September 4th, 1899. The original parish church was on Chestnut Street, at the bottom of the Elliot Street hill. Here below is a facsimile of that news story:

ST MARY'S LAWN PARTY.

Labor Day Lawn Party at Newton Upper Falls a Pleasant Affair.

NEWTON, Sept 4—Hundreds came to Newton Upper Falls this afternoon and evening to attend the lawn party given in aid of St Mary's parish on the grounds of the church, off Chestnut st.

Many attractions were offered, which did not fail to furnish abundant amusement for the large gathering. Elaborate decorations added much to the natural beauty of the church lawn, which was crowded throughout the day and evening.

Tents and pavilions for the sale of a variety of articles, including refreshments, were erected for the occasion and the tables were liberally patronized.

A long list of sports, dancing and orchestral music delighted the large company present. The various committees were headed by the following: Mrs Stephen Mallet, Miss Hannah Corkery, Roderick McGilvary, Mrs Jas. Cahill, Jeremiah Mahoney, Mrs James E. Sullivan, James E. Sullivan, Miss Mary E. Barrett, Joseph Warren, Mrs James Freeman, Mrs John Fitzgerald, Mrs Kingsbury, James Freeman, Thos. Meskell, Joseph S. Murphy, William Hopkins, John Kerivan, John B. Sullivan, James F. Ryan, Daniel J. Murphy, Mary E. Barrett and Charles Cammonall.

OF THE LITTLE OFFICE OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY

PSALM 126

We continue our examination of the five vesperal psalms and antiphons in the Little Office of the Blessed Virgin Mary (English texts are taken from the Douai-Rheims Challoner version).

The fourth psalm of Vespers in the Little Office is Psalm 126: Nisi Dominus aedificaverit domum, “Unless the Lord build the house: they labour in vain that build it. Unless the Lord keep the city: he watcheth in vain that keepeth it” (v. 1). Like last week’s psalm (Ps. 121), this one belongs to the subgroup called the “Psalms of Ascent.”

In his commentary on this psalm, St. Robert Bellarmine locates its composition with the rebuilding of Jerusalem and its Temple in the post-exilic period (538-425 B.C.). At this time, as he indicates, the returned exiles and their leaders had not only to rebuild, but also to fend off foreign neighboring enemies who sought to pull down again what was being restored. The people often felt as if their efforts were in vain.

The psalmist highlights the utter transitoriness of life, and there is a certain frustrating edge to the psalmist’s tone, too, when such transitoriness is compared to our often slaving efforts to hold everything together. Accordingly, he seeks to draw us upward above the daily grind in order to contemplate the One who is ultimately in control, He Who IS (cf. Ex. 3:14)- the living God who utterly transcends the fleeing vapor of our lives. Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI has this to say in his commentary on this psalm:

“Thus, the Psalmist desires to exalt the primacy of divine grace that impresses substance and value on human action, although it is marked by limitations and transience. In the serene and faithful abandonment of our freedom to the Lord, our work also becomes solid, capable of bearing lasting fruit.”

Thus, for the pilgrims chanting this psalm en route to Jerusalem- likely a welcome break from the drudgery of daily toil and hardship- this must have been a wholesome reminder of the very purpose of making pilgrimage: they were traveling to Jerusalem once again to acknowledge ritually that all aspects of their lives were subject to God’s sovereign providence, just as for their ancestors who re-built and defended Jerusalem and its Temple.

Spiritually, SS. Augustine and Robert Bellarmine interpret this psalm as applying to the continual efforts of the clergy to build up the Church while enemies attack her. Bellarmine writes, “[u]nless the primary architect be there, He who said, ‘On this rock I will build my church,’ in vain will men build, and doctors preach, because, as the Lord Himself said, ‘Without Me you can do nothing,’” quoting Mt. 16:18 and Jn. 15:5.

We then have an abrupt shift in the psalm to a discussion about the benefits of child-bearing in vv. 3ff.: “lo, children are an heritage from the Lord, and the fruit of the womb a reward.” The literal sense here is the ongoing fulfillment of God’s promise to Abraham regarding His innumerable progeny (cf. Gen. 15:5). The spiritual sense regards the progeny of the New Covenant in Christ, whose mother is simultaneously both Our Lady and the Church, as we saw in previous columns.

The Marian antiphon for this psalm in the Little Office is again drawn from the Song of Solomon. It relates the mystical spousal dialogue between Christ and the Church, between God and Our Lady: “Now is the winter past, the rain is over and gone: arise, my beloved, and come” (Song of Solomon 2:10-11).

According to the spiritual sense, winter and rain refer to the trials of earthly life, and the Bridegroom's invitation to "arise" refers to Our Lord's invitation to eternal life and resurrection. As it applies to Our Lady, this invitation from Christ is the singular grace of her Assumption, whereby she shares already in the grace of bodily resurrection.

LATIN MASS PROPERS: THIRTEENTH SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST

INTROIT: Psalm 73. 20, 19, 23. HAVE regard, O Lord, to Thy covenant, and forsake not to the end the souls of Thy poor: arise, O Lord, and judge Thy cause, and forget not the voices of them that seek Thee. Ps. ibid. 2. O God, why hast Thou cast us off unto the end: why is Thy wrath enkindled against the sheep of Thy pasture? Ps. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost. As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen. — Have regard, O Lord ...

COLLECT ALMIGHTY everlasting God, give to us increase of Faith, Hope and Charity: and that we may deserve to obtain what Thou dost promise, make us love what Thou dost command. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, Thy Son, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee in the unity of the Holy Ghost, God, world without end.

EPISTLE: From the Letter of Blessed Paul the Apostle to the Galatians, 3. 16-22. BRETHREN: To Abraham were the promises made, and to his seed. He saith not: and to his seeds, as of many; but as of one: And to thy seed, which is Christ. Now this I say, that the testament which was confirmed by God, the law which was made after four hundred and thirty years, doth not disannul, to make the promise of no effect. For if the inheritance be of the law, it is no more of promise. But God gave it to Abraham by promise. Why then was the law? It was set because of transgressions until the seed should come, to whom He made the promise, being ordained by angels in the hand of a mediator. Now a mediator is not of one, but God is one. Was the law then against the promises of God? God forbid. For if there had been a law given, which could give life, verily justice should have been by the law. But the Scripture hath concluded all under sin, that the promise by the faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe.

GRADUAL: Psalm 73. 20, 19, 22 HAVE regard, O Lord, to Thy covenant, and forsake not to the end the souls of Thy poor. Arise, O Lord, and judge Thy cause: remember the reproach of Thy servants. ALLELUIA: Psalm 89. 1. Alleluia, Alleluia. Lord, Thou hast been our refuge, from generation to generation. Alleluia.

GOSPEL: Continuation of the holy Gospel according to St. Luke, 17. 11-19. AT THAT TIME, as Jesus was going to Jerusalem, He passed through the midst of Samaria and Galilee: and as He entered into a certain town, there met Him ten men that were lepers, who stood afar off, and lifted up their voice, saying: Jesus, Master, have mercy on us. Whom when He saw, He said: Go, show yourselves to the priests. And it came to pass, that, as they went, they were made clean. And one of them, when he saw that he was made clean, went back, with a loud voice glorifying God: and he fell on his face before His feet, giving thanks: and this was a Samaritan. And Jesus answering said: Were not ten made clean? And where are the nine? There is no one found to return and give glory to God, but this stranger. And He said to him: Arise, go thy way; for thy faith hath made thee whole.

OFFERTORY: Psalm 30. 15-16 In Thee, O Lord, have I hoped: I said, Thou art my God, my times are in Thy hands.

SECRET: LOOK graciously, O Lord, upon Thy people: graciously look upon our gifts: and, appeased by this offering, mayest Thou grant us pardon and give us what we ask. Through our Lord ...

COMMUNION: Wisdom 16. 20 THOU hast given us, O Lord, bread from heaven, having in it all that is delicious, and the sweetness of every taste.

POSTCOMMUNION: WE who have received the heavenly Sacraments beseech Thee, O Lord, that we may steadily advance towards eternal redemption. Through our Lord ...
